MEMORY OF HIS BOYHOOD

W. H. Stringer, of Indianapolis, Visits Rushville Today.

Had Not Looked About Town For Forty-Eight Years—Formerly Resided Here.

W. H. Stringer, a well known business man of Indianapolis, was in the city today looking up old friends and walking about town, looking for old landmarks and other familiar objects that graced Rushville when he resided here 48 years ago.

Mr. Stringer is sixty years old. He was born in a log cabin, located on a farm west of town and then known as "the Davis place." He is a son of Mrs. Mary Stringer, who was housekeeper for the Old Mansion House when it was owned by Joseph Hamilton.

Mr. Stringer resided in Rushville for twelve years and had not been back to Rushville to visit for any length of time for 48 years. His visit here today brought back a flood of memories of the pranks and associations of his boyhood days. As a barefooted boy he ran in the streets and with his playmates shouted for Buchanan and Fremont in 1856.

At the time John S. Campbell was postmaster, Mr. Stringer was "Devil" in the Republican office. He says that he thought he knew more than the editor. One Saturday the editor, whose name he does not remember went fishing. The Republican at that time was a weekly paper and was printed on Saturday morning for Sunday reading. The paper was ready for the press. "Mr. Stringer" and his mischievous playmates concocted a joke on a friend and Mr. Stinger set it in type to put in the paper when the editor left. In setting the type in the form, he "pied" the whole business. He took his hat and coat and left. There was no paper printed that day and whenever the former "Devil" saw the editor coming he always had business elsewhere. He never spoke to the editor from the day he pied the form.

Mr. Stringer says he well remembers the first door bell that came to Rushville. It was in 1854 that Jack Morris brought home his newly wedded wife from the East. Mrs. Morris would have a door bell. The Morris' lived on what is now First street at a point south of the court house. In front of the house was an old well, walled up with sycamore gums, which supported a windlass by which means buckets of water were drawn from the well. Mr. Stringer and his playmates Joe Ben Frazier, Bob Smith and others, would attach a fishing line to the lever on the bell and after hiding behind the well, would pull the string, bringing Mrs. Morris to the door every ten or fifteen minutes. Mr. Morris thinking the boys were in the habit of ringing the bell, resolved to catch them. She procured a big stick with which she intended to strike the miscreants. One evening the village preacher called and rang the door bell. No sooner had he done so than the door flew open and he was met by a shower of blows with the stick. Apologies were in order and the matter was patched up. The preacher, Mr. Stringer says, was given the beating of his life.

Mr. Stringer says he has met several people today whom he knew. He went to school with Mrs. Alice Reeves in the building where the Republican office is now located. He had not seen Mrs. Lulu Sexton for 48 years. She recognized him instantly today. Mrs. Reeve, then Miss Alice Dixon, is the only schoolmate that he could find.

Mr. Stringer sauntered down to the old Carmichael mill where he often fished when a small boy. He saw several barefooted boys fishing here and he says that the sight made such an impression upon him that he was wont to join them.

At the time Mr. Stringer was "Devil" in the Republican office, the Republican had sixty subscribers. Mr. Stinger passed the papers each Saturday evening.

Mr. Stringer's parents were Kentuckians. His father was dead at the time Mr. Stringer resided in Rushville. Mr. Stringer has a wonderful memory. Today he pointed out several old landmarks in the down town district and recited instances of his boyhood days. He remembers having great times in "Uncle Billy" Crawford's tin shop.

Mr. Stringer says when the old J. M. & L. road was first built and he saw the engine for the first time he was possessed with a desire to be an engineer. He wished some day to be able to run an engine at the wonderful speed of fifteen or twenty miles an hour. He says his mother told him that running trains at that rate was entirely too dangerous and she refused to allow him to become an engineer.

BUYS FACTORY AT GREENFIELD

B. A. Sunderland of this City Will Manufacture Ice.

Frank Mann, of Indianapolis, who recently traded for the McDonald Ice & Coal company's plant in Greenfield has sold the same to Thos. H. New, of Greenfield, and B. A. Sunderland, of Rushville.

Mr. Sunderland will be manager of the same and the future business will consist of the sale of fuel and ice, but no building material will be handled.

Mr. New has been competing for some time past with this firm and has been handling, but not manufacturing ice. Mr. Sunderland will move his family to Greenfield in the near future.

COLORED MEN ARE CURIOSITY

Brookville Newspapers Print Pictures of Them Working on the Streets.

The colored men from Connersville who were taken to Brookville a few weeks ago to work on the street improvements at that place, continue to attract much attention there, particularly among the children, many of whom never before saw a colored man. When the negroes first appeared in Brookville the children stood along the streets in groups watching them work, and on one or two occasions the children brought flowers to the colored workmen who accepted the favors, though they were much amused.

A few days ago the Indianapolis News printed a picture of the colored men at work and the picture was reproduced this week in the Brookville American.

Once again this year there is a good deal of comment among certain people over the discovery that the blades of oats have the letter B plainly on them. This peculiarity is on every blade this year, and it is said to be there every year, and the fact that it is found there this season need not occasion excitement. It is said that this phenomena was first discovered previous to the Black Hawk war, and the superstitious said that it stood for "Black Hawk," and that it fore-shadowed blood. The discovery of the B on the oat blade was followed by one of the bloodiest Indian wars in history, and this caused many to believe that the appearance of the B was only a warning of the terrible events that were to follow.

A Buffalo bull recently slaughtered in Iowa brought its owner nearly $1000. The head sold for $600, the hide for $300 and the meat for fifty cents a pound. In the year 1877 a drove of buffalo estimated at 4,000,000 head, though the number seems incredible, crossed the North Platte river in Nebraska. They were worth a dollar apiece to the poachers who exterminated them for their hides.

THE SUMMER INSTITUTE

Big Attendance is Anticipated Here on Friday.

Women of the County Will Hold two Sessions at the Court House Assembly Room.

As announced in the Republican about a month ago, the women of the county will hold a summer institute Friday of this week at the court house assembly room. Although the institute will be held by the women anyone is invited to attend. Several things will be discussed which will be of interest to the men.

The institute is being given with proceeds remaining over from the winter institutes. The State officers had a neat sum left over and it is being used in several counties of the State. The institute will be held under the auspices of the Purdue University, school of Agriculture. The officers of the institute are: President, Mrs. L. B. Harris; secretary, Miss Ethel Amos.

Two sessions will be held in the forenoon and afternoon. The morning session will begin promptly at 9:30 and the afternoon session will begin at 1:15.

The speakers obtained for the institute are among the best. Prof. W. C. Latta, of the Purdue School of Agriculture, Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, of Cambridge City, and Miss M. M. Mathers, of Normal Ill., who is a graduate of the Kansas City Agricultural college. Her subject is "Domestic Science," and her talks will no doubt be interesting to the ladies. The institute promises to be a great success and a good attendance is anticipated at both sessions.

The program for the day is as follows:

MORNING SESSION.
Prayer, Rev. W. P. McGarey.
Music, Instrumental Duet, Miss Buell and Miss Wright.

Adjournment.

LODGE NOTES

The local chapter of the Eastern Star was entertained last night at Morristown by the Morristown Chapter. There was degree work at the Masonic hall, and afterwards a banquet was held at the school house. About forty from the local chapter were present. During the banquet music was furnished by the Morristown band. The table decorations were myrtle, pink roses and daisies. Mr. Case, the grand patron of the Morristown Chapter, acted as toast-master. Earl Payne responded for Rushville and was followed by Mr. Donegan, Mr. John D. Megee, Mrs. Charles Norris, Mrs. Oliver Norris and others. Milan, Greenfield and Anderson lodges were represented at the affair. The Rushville company returned on the 11:30 car over the L. & C.

MAY BE SMOKED

Cigarettes be May Used if Imported, Says an Indianapolis Judge.

Judge James Leathers of the Supreme court of Marion county, has handed down a decision which will be greeted with delight by the cigarette smokers of the State, in which he holds that as long as a smoker procures his "makings" or the cigarettes in original packages from dealers outside of the State, that he may smoke them to his heart's content, but that under no circumstances could he give away or sell either papers or cigarettes. The judge ruled that the cigarette law conflicted with the interstate commercial act and would therefore hold good only so far as manufacturers and dealers in this State are concerned.

The case in which this decision was rendered was that of Walter W. Lowry, of Indianapolis. The State will appeal the case to the higher courts to test the constitutionality of the cigarette bill. This decision should not be interpreted as applying to the whole State. So far as Rushville is concerned the law is as stringent as ever.

TOY PISTOLS UNDER A BAN

They Must Not be Used by Youngsters on the Fourth of July.

Three weeks from next Tuesday is Fourth of July, the great American anniversary day, on which the small boy is accustomed to make the racket of his life. For this reason it may be well to call attention of fireworks dealers and "Young America" to the anti-toy pistol law.

The legislature last winter enacted a law which provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, company or corporation to manufacture, sell or expose for sale, or give away any toy pistol or other device for the purpose of exploding caps or wafers containing fulminates or other explosive compounds.

The grandmas of the legislature, whose nervous systems will not stand for a Fourth of July racket, have imposed a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 and imprisonment in the county jail for each and every violation of this law.

A Sunday School Picnic

A delightful picnic was held by Miss Myrtle Hungerford in the beautiful grove near the Big Flatrock church in Orange township, June 9th, which was enjoyed by her Sunday school class and also several of her scholars in music. Those present were as follows: Louie Miller, Grace Boring, Iva Ellison, Ruth Boring, Ercel Major, Hazel Vernon, Flora Major, Ola Alter, Rena Peek, Olla Richey, Frances Thompson, Lavonne Wagoner, Zella Hungerford, Tom Alter, Chase Land, Clarence Alter, Newt. Halterman, Wayne Alter, Howard Campbell, Cecil Major, Clatie Dillinger, Charlie Miller, Ernest Halterman, Retla Alter, Linnie Ellison, Hattie Ellison, Maggie Ellison, Ralph Campbell, Anta Roth, Frank Roth, Grace Ellison, Pearl Thorpe, and Flora Campbell. They all enjoyed a nice dinner as each one had something good to eat in their basket. After dinner they played several different games, and Miss Anta Roth gave a recitation which was appreciated. They also took a stroll along the banks of Big Flatrock river. Throughout the day the woods fairly rang with their happy voices and merry laughter. It was a day long to be remembered by the children. They all say Miss Myrtle is a royal entertainer. In the evening they all left for their homes with bright faces and happy good-byes.

All members of the Uniform Rank K. of P. are requested to be present at a meeting to be held on Thursday evening for the purpose of making arrangements for the Knightstown trip Sunday.

PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Pessimistic Note in Peace Talk Has no Proper Warrant.

The White House is Yet the Medium of Communication Between Belligerents.

Washington, June 14.—A note of pessimism is discernible today in the tone of the discussion of the negotiations for peace in the far East. As far as is ascertainable at this time, no permanent ground exists for the supposition that the negotiations are not proceeding favorably. It is realized in both governmental and diplomatic quarters that until the two belligerents actually are brought together on a common basis of understanding, the possibility of a hitch must be taken into account.

Among members of the diplomatic corps the normal response of the Russian government to the president's appeal for a cessation of hostilities was received with keen interest. It was made the subject of a conference at the White House between the president and Minister Takahira. The details of the conference were not disclosed, but Minister Takahira intimated strongly that the negotiations were proceeding smoothly. In other diplomatic quarters it was suggested that possibly a too optimistic view of the situation generally was being taken.

In an important quarter the belief is expressed that no differences have arisen in the progress of the negotiations which would amount to a hitch or which could not be smoothed over with tact and earnest persistence on the part of the president. Direct communication between St. Petersburg and Tokio has not yet been established. The White House is yet the medium for all communications between the two capitals. Important details remain to be agreed upon before the plenipotentiaries of the belligerents can meet to discuss the means of ending the war. There is adequate authority for the statement that there is no actual hitch in the preliminary negotiations. Progress is being made, but it may be several days or even longer before all details for the meeting can be definitely fixed. A diplomat explained the situation when he said certain optimists had succeeded in getting ahead of the actual status quo of the negotiations. "These optimists," he added, "naturally become alarmed when they find that the negotiations are not keeping pace with their predictions, and straightway they announce a hitch in the negotiations."

Russia regards her consent to appoint plenipotentiaries to discuss means of ending the war as a tentative arrangement. Although the word plenipotentiaries is used in the Russian reply, it is understood that their appointment does not commit Russia to any pledge to end the war. Russia's object in appointing these fully empowered envoys is to find out whether Russia can obtain from Japan peace terms which it is possible for Emperor Nicholas to accept. Japan is naturally cautious, although she, too, has accepted the president's offer of good will and agreed to appoint plenipotentiaries. The negotiations have progressed far enough for the belligerents to be discussing through the president as the channel of communication a suitable place, the number of the negotiators and, what is more important than either of these, a common basis upon which the plenipotentiaries may meet.

Russia was thoroughly opposed to the suggestion of any place in the far East for a meeting point, and it is not believed that Japan's opposition to Paris was at all unexpected in St. Petersburg. Russia has shown strong preference for a European capital. Japan's wish is to secure a point free from outside influences. Direct negotiations with Russia has been her demand throughout, and hence her original reference for a point in the far East. The Hague it is believed would prove fairly acceptable to both.

Joseph Miller, who was badly injured in a gas explosion at his home, north of Arlington, recently, is reported as being better today. He is suffering from some very severe burns and his right ear looks as if it might fall off.

ARMY ENLISTMENT

There are Plenty of Recruits For the Nation's Defense.

Though the United States is at peace with the world, Indiana is furnishing monthly somewhere near a hundred men for the army and nearly that many for the navy.

There are two regularly established army recruiting stations in Indiana, one in Indianapolis and one at Evansville. At the Indianapolis station and auxiliary points, 72 recruits were enlisted, with the following numbers to each station: Indianapolis, 44; Terre Haute, 16; Muncie, 13; Richmond 2; Shelbyville 2. The average number of lads recruited were about one out of every two who applied.

Naval recruiting officers make a tour of the State at intervals, but there is no regularly established post in Indiana. Whenever they make their appearance, however, the young of the land make themselves known more generally than to the army officials. It seems that the career of a sailor is more fascinating to the young American, especially in Indiana, than is the army.

A. E. NOWLIN WILL RESIGN

Sixth District Revenue Collector Will be Succeeded by E. H. Neal.

Charles H. Keep, Acting Secretary of the Treasury, has sent a letter to Ambrose E. Nowlin, Collector of Internal Revenues for the Sixth District of Indiana, asking him to forward his resignation. There is nothing out of the ordinary in this action. A collector of internal revenue has a tenure of no fixed limit and it is customary when a change is made to ask the collector to resign. It is taken for granted at the Treasury department that Mr. Nowlin will forward his resignation without delay. In the request for Mr. Nowlin's resignation there is no reflection whatever on his efficiency. He has held the office eight years, and the Indiana Senators last spring announced that they had agreed upon his successor, who is E. H. Neal. It is presumed from Mr. Keep's action that it is intended the change in collectors shall take place at the beginning of the next fiscal year, which will be July 1.

400 FEET OF OIL NOW IN THE WELL

Measurement Taken in Buena Vista Oil Well Wednesday by Many.

While the stockholders have been sparring for place, during the past ten days, the oil in the Buena Vista well has been bettering its record. Having come to something like an agreement regarding differences, representatives of both sides and disinterested parties visited the well at Buena Vista to see if it was really worth making trouble over. The best previous figures, which were given was 250 feet. When the plug was removed and the line ran down, a little more than 380 feet of oil were found standing in the hole.

Well men say this indicates an extremely strong pressure from below and that the claim heretofore made that the well might prove a 300 barrel producer daily, may not be in the least exaggerated.

The meeting that was to have taken place at Connersville Tuesday has been postponed because of the death of a relative of one of the attorneys, at Greensburg, but all reports are in effect that differences are being adjusted.

INDIANA ONCE A DRY STATE

The Suprising Fact However is Known to But Few.

Prohibition Law Enacted in 1855, Remained in Force But a Short Time.

Indiana was a Prohibition State for a short time in 1855, a fact probably known to but few. Whiskey was cheap in the 50's, being quoted in wholesale lots at 20 to 35 cents a gallon. There were no restrictions as to the consumption or sale to adults or minors. The public drinking places were kept open from sunup to sunup.

Several distilleries in the State manufactured spirits in quantities, while many neighborhoods supported private stills for local consumption.

Prior to 1854 there were no laws controlling the manufacture or sale of intoxicants. In that year a temperance wave passed over Indiana, and temperance lodges were organized at every cross road and hamlet. The movement became so popular that the State was divided into temperance and whisky parties, and State and national issues in the State campaign of 1854 were, to a great degree, lost sight of. The temperance agitators were called fanatics and extremists.

As a result of the crusade a majority of those elected to the legislature convening in 1855 were pledged to enact a law to restrict the sale of all spirituous liquors.

The leaders in the temperance movement, emboldened by their overwhelming success at the polls, lost their heads, and enacted a law that was patterned somewhat after the Maine prohibitory law.

A man named Bebee refused to close his saloon and openly sold whisky by the dram. He was arrested and backed by the whisky element, made a test case of the law. A few months later the Indiana supreme court decided this law to be class legislation and unconstitutional.

During the latter part of 1855-56 many of the temperance agitators backlaid and the movement lost its popularity among the masses.

During the campaign of 1856 a fight was hotly waged by the temperance and the whiskey elements to control the legislature; one element sought to enact a prohibitory law that would stand the test, and the other to repeal the 1855 law, and to prevent further legislation along that line.

Money and influences poured into the State from adjoining States in support of the anti-temperance element, and, after an exciting campaign the anti's elected a majority in the legislature, and the obnoxious law, as it was called, was repealed.

The government tax and control of spirituous liquors in 1861 as a result of the civil war had much to do with quieting those in favor of a stringent temperance law.

The main features of the Indiana prohibitory law made it unlawful to sell any kind of intoxicants in less quantities than three gallons same not to be drunk or given away on premises where sold.

BASE BALL

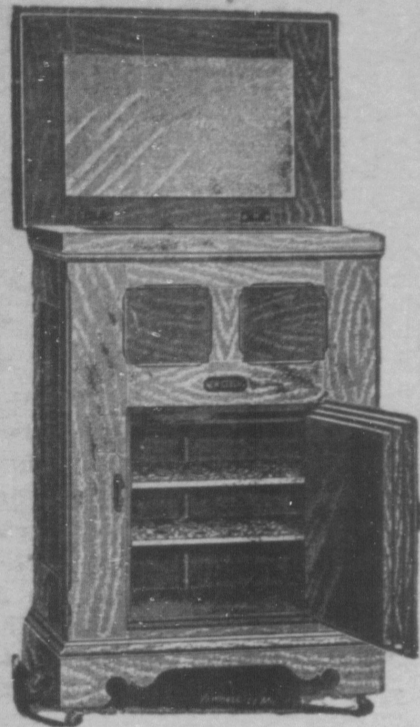

Greensburg News: The Rushville ball team will be accompanied here on Thursday by a large number of fans who are anxious to see Rushville win the game. McCord will pitch for Rushville and Donnell will be on the rubber for the Reds. On Friday the Reds will journey to Rushville and Newton will do the pitching for Greensburg. Rushville fans think that they have a winning team this season and Manager Geraghty wants to book a series of twelve games with the Reds. It will be remembered that Rushville played a series of twelve games and that the Reds won eleven games out of the twelve.

RUSHVILLE, IND., JUNE 14, 1905.

The opening of the Portland Exposition is only another reminder that Thomas Jefferson believed in expansion, and numerous writers are calling attention again to the fact, but what is the use of quoting or citing Thomas Jefferson to the anti-expansionists these days? They have no use for what Jefferson actually believed, just as the party claiming him as its father has no use for him except the name.

Mayor Dunne of Chicago may have been a very capable judge, but he has proved to be a very incapable mayor. If, with the assistance of his Glasgow expert he should be able to make a success of his undertaking in municipal ownership, it will be an illustration not so much of his ability as a mayor as to his ability as a business man. He may be able to run a street railroad, but he has already demonstrated that he is incapable of running a city government. When a citizen is not even assured of the free use of the street as a pedestrian, how can he reasonably expect this same mismanagement to assure him a safe use of the streets when he wants to ride in a car owned and operated by this same city?

The United States is winning a distinction as a leader in the diplomatic dealings with Russia and Japan. The center of interest in the negotiation is not in London, Paris, Berlin or any other old-world capital, but in Washington. If a conference of the combatants be held in any neutral country after the war to arrange the peace terms as the United States and Spain met in Paris, Washington will undoubtedly be the place. This is the general understanding throughout the world. Should a general congress of the powers be held to consider the conditions in Asia, the United States will have a prominent part in it, although we have no direct concern in Asiatic politics beyond the preservation of the open door in trade. We are winning a pre-eminence in the world's affairs which is calculated to increase the pride of all Americans in their country. The precedence which Washington is taking in the negotiations in St. Petersburg, and the hearty way in which our efforts are seconded from London, Berlin and Paris, are a magnificent tribute to the United States' primacy as a factor in the world's civilization and progress.

One Phase of Primary Election Law to Be Tested at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, June 14.—Plans are being worked out by Chairman Robert Metzger of the Republican city committee and the managers of Frank D. Stalnaker's race for the mayoralty nomination to prevent Democrats from voting for ex-Mayor Charles A. Bookwalter at the primaries June 30. Information has been received at the Stalnaker headquarters that Bookwalter and his lieutenants will attempt to vote as many men for him in south side precincts as voted for Roosevelt last fall. If they are successful they may be able to more than offset the heavy vote Stalnaker is expected to receive in the north side wards. Three or four thousand south side Democrats voted for Roosevelt, and according to the primary election law under which the ticket will be nominated they have a right to vote. The probability of hundreds of these so-called Roosevelt Democrats voting for Bookwalter has raised an interesting question among local politicians as to how long a period of party affiliation is required for a Democrat to be entitled to a vote in Republican primaries. Some of Stalnaker's backers insist that the mere fact that a Democrat voted for Roosevelt last year because he was dissatisfied with Parker or because he was satisfied with existing conditions and liked Roosevelt's policy, does not entitle him to be recognized at a nominating primary as a "true blue" Republican whose party affiliation is beyond question.

Elam Neal of Jonesboro will succeed Ambrose Nowlin as collector of the old Lawrenceburg revenue district

July 1, which is three or four months earlier than expected. Neal is now Eleventh district chairman and probably would have been a candidate for the chairmanship of the Republican state committee had he not been appointed revenue collector. It is said that he expects to continue as district chairman, although it was recently announced from Washington that the national administration would object to federal officers taking such an active hand in politics. Nowlin, who is to step aside, has been revenue collector for eight years. The district headquarters are to be removed to Indianapolis as soon as the new federal building here is ready for occupancy.

Vice President Fairbanks is enroute to Iowa City, Ia., to deliver the principal address at the commencement exercises of the Iowa state university. He will return to Indianapolis the latter part of the week, but will only remain a day or two, as he and Mrs. Fairbanks are going to Delaware, O., to be present at the commencement exercises of Ohio Wesleyan university. The vice president is enjoying excellent health and is spending all the time he can at his comfortable home here on North Meridian street. He will probably be in Indianapolis most of the summer, although he has accepted a number of invitations to deliver addresses that will require considerable time.

A report has been prepared by State Statistician Stubbs showing that Indiana is growing in importance as a tobacco raising state. It shows that the tobacco culture in Indiana increased 70 per cent this year over last. There are 13,500 acres under cultivation now. The bulk of the tobacco is produced in Switzerland, Jefferson, Spencer, Vigo, Warrick and Ohio counties. Nevin township, Vigo county, has the largest acreage of any locality. Reports from the township assessors show that the acreage for wheat has increased slightly over last year, but it is still far below the normal average for the last ten years. The wheat acreage is slightly over 1,600,000 acres. Corn is about the same, but the acreage for oats is largely increased.

New Albany, Ind., June 14.—A west-bound freight train on the St. Louis division of the Southern railway was wrecked at Georgetown, twelve miles west of this city, and Jesse Englema, twenty-two years old, of New Albany, was so badly injured that he will die. Five cars were ditched on a curve.

Acted in Self Defense.

Minneapolis, June 14.—Nicholas Eekes, on trial here for the murder of Fred Roma, has been acquitted, the jury finding that he fired the fatal shot in self-defense.

HUMAN BLOWERS

Have Seen Last of Their Greatness in Glass Works.

LUNG POWER LOST OUT

American Window Glass Company Is Offering Its Indiana Factories For Sale.

Human Blowers Recognize That Trust Is Done With Their Services Forever.

Hartford City, Ind., June 14.—The American Window Glass company, or trust, is offering ten of its old Indiana window glass factories for sale, which is indication enough to the human blowers that the trust is done with their services forever.

The plants offered are at Greenfield, Pendleton, Elwood, Frankton, Anderson, Redkey, Dunkirk, Fairmount. Two factories are for sale at Anderson and two at Dunkirk. Of this number eight are pot and two are tank factories. The company has just sold its old pot plant here to the Sneath Glass company for $5,000, and it is being remodeled for a flint factory. Human blowers no longer question the success of the blowing machines, and none ever expects to blow glass for the trust again by lung power.

MORE FORGERIES

"Clean Up" on the Standard Grows in Extent.

Marion, Ind., June 14.—F. S. Bates, president of the Ohio Oil company, which is a part of the Standard Oil company, reports that he found a number of checks in the banks and among the merchants of Montpelier, all of them calling for $60 each, and of which all were forged. He claims that he has found $1,140 in forged checks in Marion and Montpelier. He went from Montpelier to Cleveland, and will return in a few days to make a more thorough investigation in Marion, Muncie and Montpelier.

H. B. Reasoner, a banker of this place, says the forgery is the best work he has ever witnessed. He says the forger must have purchased the bank paper from the American Safety Paper company, which is an exact reproduction of the paper used by the Standard Oil company, and that the lithographing was done in some first-class lithographing house, and must have cost a considerable sum. The forger must have found out the serial number of the Standard Oil company which would be used in the May payment. Mr. Bates said he could not tell his own signature, and that some of the checks got mixed with some good checks and that they were only able to detect them by the duplication of the serial numbers.

Veterans in Interesting Contest.

Madison, Ind., June 14.—The contest for the position of department commander of the Indiana G. A. R. is attracting much attention among the veterans gathered here this week. The announced candidates are: J. M. Barlow of Plainfield; M. D. Tavett of Greensburg; Jerome Musser of Anderson, and J. C. Bozarth of Valparaiso. The election will take place Thursday. The selection of senior vice commander will be given to Madison, but the posts of this city have not yet named the man. There is a spirited contest between Marion and Lafayette for the next encampment, with the odds at this time in favor of Lafayette. Fort Wayne is also making a request for it.

Suicide of Sensitive Girl.

Laporte, Ind., June 14.—Rosa Wick, fifteen years old, an orphan, living with John Wothke and family in Clinton township, is dead of rat poison taken a week ago because of a quarrel with the nine-year-old daughter of her benefactor, who had called her names. During her illness she was treated for indigestion and for prostration by the heat, and it was not until she was dying that she made known the truth.

Saw the Russian Fleet.

Otterbein, Ind., June 14.—Miss Emma Martin, a physician, and Miss Lizzie Martin, teacher, sent by the M. E. church as missionaries, have returned home after five years' service in Japan and China. During the boxer troubles they reached Peking barely in time to escape massacre. En route homeward they passed in plain view of the Russian fleet, then on its way to be annihilated.

Victim in Critical Condition.

Evansville, Ind., June 14.—Frank Hesson, who is wanted at Gentryville, this state, where he is accused of assaulting his uncle with "knucks," was arrested at Poseyville. The assault took place four weeks ago, and his victim is reported in a critical condition.

Fortune in Mussel Shell.

Clinton, Ind., June 14.—William Meadows, a fisherman of Montezuma, while opening a mussel shell found a pearl in it which is said to be worth $1,000.

MIMIC WARFARE

Washington's Defenses Against Naval Invasion Demonstrated.

Fort Hunt, Va., June 14.—The first gun in defense of Washington was fired by one of the 8-inch batteries of Fort Hunt at 9:11 o'clock last night. The target was one of the units of Admiral Dickins' squadron which appeared to be of the cruiser type. She had just rounded Marshall's Point, about three miles below the fort, proceeding slowly up the river. That she was an "enemy" was indicated by a signal from one of the fort's 60-inch searchlights. After the initial fire the shooting became general and six minutes was taken up by Fort Washington's 12-inch batteries. Not a reply came from the warship, and when the required number of shots from the fort had been fired to constructively put the ship out of action, the firing ceased.

For the third time this week the battleships Texas, flagship; the training ship Hartford and the gunboat Hornet were constructively sunk off Fort Monroe last night. The third attack on the Chesapeake fortifications began at 9:30 and heavy firing was maintained by both fleet and forts for almost half an hour.

Fatal Wreck on Southern.

St. Louis, June 14.—One person was killed and five injured in a wreck of a special train on the Southern railway, one-half mile east of Golden Gate, Ill. The dead: J. D. Johnson, fireman. Injured: William Gratz, engineer; Henry Lancaster, Indian Territory; Albert Hayes, Arkansas; Leander Thomas, Arkansas; W. C. Peeler, Cotton Belt railroad. Shortly after passing Golden Gate the engine left the track, turning over and burying the fireman beneath the wreckage. The cars following the engine overturned, but the heavier sleepers maintained their balance and passed over the trestle.

Murderer Escapes.

Glen Carbon, Ill., June 14.—August Margel, is charged with having shot Miss Josie Heller and slightly wounding Frank Heller, the girl's father, who had refused to permit Margel to pay attentions to his daughter. Margel, who is a Russian, thirty-five years old, has been employed as a miner. Miss Heller had refused to marry him. No trace of Margel has been found.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 14.—Three Roumanian laborers were injured in the explosion of a carbonated water tank in the Highland mill of the Republic Iron and Steel company. One of the injured men will die. The tank was in the scrap pile and the men were cutting it up with steam shears, not knowing that it was still charged.

Trial Nearing an End.

Washington, June 14.—The defense in the trial of William G. Crawford, charged with conspiring with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz to defraud the government under a contract to furnish letter carriers' satchels to the postoffice department, has rested its case. The government, in rebuttal, has but one more witness.

The Place of Sailing.

Washington, June 14.—The state department has been advised that Cherbourg has been settled upon as the place of departure for this country of the remains of Admiral John Paul Jones.

London Has Nothing New.

London, June 14.—London is anxiously awaiting the next step in the peace negotiations. Neither British official circles nor the embassies have received further news for which they are looking to Washington, St. Petersburg and Tokio. Japanese official circles are somewhat pessimistic in the fear that Russia will not accept Japan's demands as a basis for negotiations looking to the settlement of the far Eastern question. There is much discussion regarding the choice of plenipotentiaries and the place of meeting. The proposal to meet in the territory in dispute is favorably considered.

Incendiary Orator Punished.

Nice, June 14.—Leon Mortel, secretary of the local labor exchange, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for making a speech applauding the throwing of the bomb at King Alfonso at Paris, May 31, as being an act of courage.

Jockey Killed in Mixup.

St. Louis, June 14.—Jockey Hector, on Wellesley, was killed and Jockey Morris, on Dr. Clark, seriously injured in a mix-up during the steeple chase at the American Jockey Club track. The horses fell near the half-mile post, and when assistance reached the two boys Hector was dead. Neither horse was injured.

GOOD CROPS IN THE WEST

Owen L. Carr of This City Writes of His Trip to Fort Worth Texas.

I left Indianapolis at noon Tuesday over the Vandalia line to St. Louis. No where west of our country to St. Louis was the corn and wheat looking as well as it did in Rush county. There is fully one-third of the corn ground yet to be planted in Illinois, and the ground was still in most places too wet to admit of stirring. The pastures and all stock looked well.

I left St. Louis at 8:30 p. m. over the M. K. & T. railroad for Ft. Worth, and passed through Missouri after night. I learned from the passengers that all crops were held back by the extreme wet weather. We arrived at Ft. Scott, Kansas, about daylight. I have made frequent trips through Southeastern Kansas for the past twenty years and never have seen such a crop condition at this time of year. There is considerable corn ground yet to break and some fields ready to plant, but the water is standing in the fields and prevents planting, and the corn that is planted and up but very little of it has been plowed and in many fields you could scarcely see the corn from the foxtail grass. Wheat is in a bad condition and has the rust badly.

The same crop conditions exist in the northern part of the Indian Territory. The pastures are fine and all kinds of stock for grazing look well. In the southern part of the territory and also Northern Texas there has not been so much rain, and the wheat in this vicinity is nearly all harvested and promises to yield about 20 bushels per acre. The farmers say the cotton and corn look very well but are later than usual. There is an abundance of small fruit and peaches in the market here.

When I first visited Ft. Worth, seven years ago, it was one of the worst cities I had ever seen. Her people were generally indolent and going along in the old "don't care sort of way, but is it far different today, since the locating of the Armour and Swift & Company's packing houses here five years ago a rapid change has taken place. New people have come and with them new enterprises; property has more than doubled in value; a new electric railway system has come, which connects this city and Dallas, 40 miles east, and is doing a regular gold mine business.

As I had to lay over here one day in order to make train connections west on the T. P. railroad I visited the town of Hillsborough 55 miles south of here. Through the invitation and courtesy of Brooks Bros., Loan & Realty company, of Hillsborough I was driven over the town of about 9000 inhabitants and some of the adjacent country. Hillsborough, like a vast number of other towns in Texas, is a "dry" town, and, by the way, a very beautiful and prosperous place. They have a new modern, up-to-date court house which they are very proud of; the residences are up-to-date and some very fine buildings.

Hillsborough is the county seat of Hill county. It has six railroad outlets, and also some substantial industries, the M. K. & T. railway shops, a large new cotton factory, running day and night, a large ice factory, two flouring mills, two grain elevators, one large cotton seed oil mill, six cotton gins, a foundry, electric light plant, a fine system of water works and sewerage, all supplied by two artesian wells, owned and operated by the city, five banks, one Bottling Works, telephone system connections everywhere, a wholesale garment factory, a hosiery factory, a large tannery, four large school buildings and several good church buildings, a fine park and an artificial lake of 100 acres which furnishes fine fishing and boating, and many other nice advantages which were shown to me. The country around is a rich agricultural community, with nice farm houses and generally large tracts of land, 200 to 1000 acres in a farm.

It is the rich, black, waxy soil, such as is generally through Central Northern Texas. The crops are cotton, alfalfa, clover, corn, wheat and oats. I was well paid for my trip to Hillsborough, and tomorrow will leave here on the T. P. railroad west.

Very Respectfully,
OWEN L. CARR.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

THE INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION.

The greatest event in each three years of American Sunday school work is the International Sunday school convention. This is a gathering of delegates from the State and provincial interdenominational Sunday school Association. It is composed of active Sunday school workers whose activity and efficiency are known and employed by the organized associations.

It is with rare exceptions that a real Sunday school leader in any community is found not identified with the association, and no such leader remains out of this form of conference and co-operation when once he knows and understands the plan of co-operation and work.

The program for the Toronto Convention, June 20th to 27th, is beyond doubt the strongest in some respects of all International programs, as outlines given will show. The scope of the program is as follows:

Eleventh International Convention, Toronto, June 20-27, 1905.
Our Creed and Source of Power.
Loyalty to the Bible and Faith.
In the Teachings of Jesus Christ.
What We Seek to Attain.
Right Relationships for Development.
To Gain Efficiency in Service.
Some suggestive topics—

Discovering and Unifying the Relations of the Sunday school to the home, to reforms, to the art of pedagogy, to civil government, to the theological seminary, to the public schools, to the university, to the religious and secular press, to the home and foreign missions. The Sunday school at the center of the world's issues, the Sunday school as an educational force, the Sunday school as an evangelistic force, Reverence and worship in the Sunday school, the Sunday school and world-wide missions, the place of the Sunday school in the theological curriculum.

Some speakers promised:—Bishop John H. Vincent, Bishop Wm. F. McDowell, John Wanamaker, Sec'y Leslie M. Shaw, Bishop McCabe, Newell Dwight Hillis, Wm. J. Dawson, England; Rev. Cary Bonner, England; H. M. Hamill; Bishop DaMoulin, Ontario; J. T. McFarland and many others space forbids mentioning.

Some speakers invited:—Vice-President Fairbanks; J. P. Dolliver, Iowa; Hon. David J. Brewer, Justice Supreme court, Washington; J. Wilbur Chapman; Chas. Outberr Hall; Wood Wilson, New York; Henry C. King, Ohio. The World Evangel contains more information than any other paper about the International Sunday School Association.

Have you read that very interesting magazine, The Smart Set?

AN ALLEGED STEAL

Philadelphia Again Aroused

Acts.

REPEALING ORDINANCES

Introduced at the Instance of Mayor Weaver Were Referred Amid Cry of "Thieves, Crooks."

Citizens Oppose Action of Councils In Granting Railway Franchises Without Compensation.

Philadelphia, June 14.—Amid the cry of "Thieves!" and "Crooks!" and under the protection of a squad of police, the committee on street railways of city councils referred to the city solicitor for his opinion as to their legality four bills repealing ordinances granting streetcar companies the right to use 110 miles of street to MAYOR JOHN WEAVER OF PHILADELPHIA lay tracks without the city receiving any compensation for the franchises. The meeting was in all respects as sensational and as stormy as that held by the committee on finance some weeks ago, when the gas lease was under consideration. The "repealers" were introduced at the instance of Mayor Weaver, and the action of the committee is the first setback the mayor has received since the inauguration of the reform movement which began with the fight on the gas lease.

Another sensation in the political situation was the arrest of Frank H. Caven, select councilman from the Thirty-fourth ward, on the charge of violating his councilmanic oath by being interested in city contracts. He was held in $10,000 bail for a further hearing. He denies the charge.

The fight over the streetcar franchises promises to be a warm one before it is finally ended. It is a contest between the mayor and citizens living in the territory through which the proposed new lines are to run, on the one hand, and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, backed by the Republican organization, on the other. Recently four streetcar companies, subsidiary concerns of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, which corporation controls practically all the streetcar lines in the city, caused to be passed by city councils ordinances giving them the right to lay tracks on 110 miles of street without the city receiving anything for the privilege. Citizens protested against the ordinances and Mayor Weaver vetoed them. The same day the gas lease was passed by councils the four bills were passed over the mayor's veto, but no further action was taken because of the gas lease fight. Two weeks later when councils adopted a resolution withdrawing the gas lease bill, four ordinances were introduced repealing the street railway ordinances, and last evening was set for a hearing on the measures.

The committee room was crowded with lawyers, representing both sides, and other citizens. A motion was made that the repealers be favorably reported to councils, but the chairman asked that all those who desired to speak on the measures be heard before the committee took action, and this was agreed to. Select Councilman Thomas J. Ryan, the only Democratic member of select council, suggested that the bills be sent to the city solicitor for his opinion as to their legality. He made the point that the ordinances had been passed and that the streetcar companies had thus been vested with the right to use the streets wanted and that councils could not now take those rights from them. His suggestion was received with a storm of hisses.

Other members of the committee who spoke against the repealers were called "thieves" and "crooks," and so disorderly did the proceedings become that a squad of police were hurriedly summoned from the central station on the sixth floor of the city hall to the committee room on the fourth floor. Thereafter better order was maintained. After both sides had been heard the committee by a vote of 15 to 11 referred the bills to the city solicitor for an opinion on them by noon Thursday.

Evansville, Ind., June 14.—Mrs. Elizabeth Simpson, who celebrated her 103d birthday last March, is dead at her home in this city.

UNINVITED GUESTS

New York Policemen Create Consternation at Prize Fight.

New York, June 14.—Half a dozen policemen armed with revolvers which they did not hesitate to use, broke up a prize fight on the outskirts of New Rochelle and captured thirty-six prisoners, among them one of the principals in the fight. There were in the barn 150 spectators, many of whom had come in automobiles and other expensive turnouts, when the police surrounded the place. There was a wild scramble when the police arrived, and the men fought with each other in their attempt to reach doors and windows. Some of the officers pursued the fleeing ones and some thirty shots were fired and several prisoners taken before the chase was abandoned. The principals in the fight were local men. The prize was a purse of $250.

JEWELS GONE

When Mrs. Cheney Returned From Europe Gems Were Missing.

New York, June 14.—The loss of a few casket said to contain several thousand dollars' worth of gems, was reported to the police by Mrs. John Vance Cheney, formerly wife of John Vance Cheney, the poet and librarian of the Newberry library in Chicago. Mrs. Cheney some time ago packed the jewels in a casket which was hidden in her apartment. She did not examine it until a few days ago, when making preparations to go to Europe. Then they could not be found. Employees of the house were closely questioned and the apartment was ransacked again and again, but the search was of no avail and the loss was reported to the police. No clue to the jewelry has been obtained. Mrs. Cheney declined to state the value of the gems.

THEY KEEP OUT

John Bull and Uncle Sam Merely On-lookers in Morocco.

London, June 14.—Great Britain, as one of the powers signatory to the Madrid convention of 1880, in answer to the request of the sultan of Morocco to join an international conference for the consideration of the Moroccan question, has announced that its preference is not to take any part in the conference unless such action would be satisfactory to France. The United States has taken the same stand, the two powers being in accord with France that such a conference would not be the best way of promoting urgent reforms in Morocco.

GAMBLER'S VENGEANCE

Because He Enforced Laws Premier of Greece Is Assassinated.

Athens, June 14.—Theodore P. Delianis, the popular premier of Greece, was stabbed and mortally wounded by a professional gambler named Cherkaris, at the main entrance of the chamber of deputies at 5 p. m., yesterday. The premier died within three hours. The assassin, who was immediately arrested, said he committed the deed in revenge for the stringent measures taken by Premier Delianis against the gambling houses, all of which recently were closed.

Hot Shot at Lawyers.

Chicago, June 14.—"Jocko" Briggs, who was to have been hanged next Friday for the murder of Hal Peterson, a cigar dealer, on the night of Sept. 12, has been granted a stay of one week by Judge Barnes. In granting the stay the court declared that he did so for the reason that the attorneys of Briggs had not looked after his case in a proper manner, and he desired the prisoner to have all the consideration shown him that was permissible under the circumstances.

Railroads Must File List of Passes.

Madison, Wis., June 14.—The assembly has passed a bill requiring railroad companies to file with the state railroad commissioners a list of all passes, mileage books, etc.

Cure for Rabies Found in Radium.

Turin, Italy, June 14.—It is announced that Professor Pizzoni of Bologna university has cured an advanced case of rabies by exposure to the rays of radium.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Mayor Hall is on the sick list.

Daniel Newkirk, of Ging, is reported in poor health.

A new sign is being painted on south side of Weeks' meat market.

Harter Bebout has entered Valparaiso college at Valparaiso, this State.

Mrs. Tom Brown is moving into her own property on North Jackson street.

Mrs. W. C. Bell is having a new house put up on her farm, near Sexton.

The Red Men had work last night in the Warrior's degree with several candidates.

Watermelons and raspberries have made their appearance on the local market.

The Girls' Glee club of the high school met with Miss Florence Frazee last night.

Phoenix lodge No. 62 F. & A. M. will have work in the F. C. degree Thursday night.

Earl Churchill was able to walk from the sanitarium to his home on Main street today.

Mrs. Darius, of Posey township, who broke her hip in a fall last week is in a very critical condition.

Charles V. Baird, of New Castle, indicted for wife-whipping, has been fined $35 in the circuit court.

The late S. A. D. Beckner left $3000 life insurance. One policy of $2000 was in the Ben Hur Co. and one policy of $1000 in the Equitable.

Dr. R. F. McClanahan is having a new sign in gilt letters put on his office windows on Main street.

Samuel, the little son of P. N. Eakins, who has been sick with fever for three weeks, is reported better.

Jamsper Fouty, near New Palestine, shot and killed a white crow, said to be the second one ever killed in Indiana.

The Rush County Board of Education will hold a special meeting on next Saturday at the superintendent's office.

Fred Yazel and Ed Pea have agreed to go to Shelbyville for a try-out with the Shelbyville base ball team as a battery.

Foundations are now being placed under the waiting stations along the Rushville division of the I. & C. traction line.

James Champion, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home on West Fifth street Monday morning, is reported worse today.

Will Dagler has taken his string of eight horses to the fair grounds at Shelbyville, where he will train them for the next four weeks.

Howard Bebout, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Manzy Bebout, of Noble township, broke one of the bones in his left arm last Friday by a fall from a bicycle.

The Rushville base ball team met the strong Kentland team this afternoon at the South Main street grounds. Connaughton was in the box for Rushville.

Rev. W. W. Sniff, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, delivered the address at the K. of P. memorial services at Milroy Sunday. Milroy people say that it was very fine.

Contractor Morris Winship has completed the new switchman tower and dispatcher's office for the I. & C. Traction company at the junction of the Rushville and Shelbyville divisions.

Homer C. Benson, district manager of the Prudential Insurance company, has been transferred here from Cambridge City, and will move his family into the new Monjar property on East Ninth street.

A horse drawing a delivery wagon for the west end grocery ran away in the up-town district Tuesday evening and collided with a dray. No damage was done beyond the breaking of the shafts of the delivery wagon.

Uncle Ves Hilligoss is still suffering from his injuries received some time ago in a runaway accident near Gowdy. One arm was badly skinned and his body considerably bruised. His hip too causes him much pain.

Charles Davis, 24 years old, an employee of the Krell-French Piano Company, at New Castle, lost his left hand Tuesday evening while at work operating a joining machine, when the member was caught in the machine and the knives severed the hand at the first wrist joint.

A great deal of building is being done in Rushville this spring, and while there are as yet no big business blocks going up nor elegant mansions being built, many new cottages and commodious dwellings are to be found, either just completed or in course of construction.

Wheat harvest will be in full blast by the middle of next week if the weather conditions continue favorable. Although the acreage is less than sixty per cent. of the average, the crop promises to be a heavy one. The wheat is heavy and the heads are large and filling out nicely.

Shelbyville Democrat, Monday: An affidavit has been filed in Squire Keith's court charging Tom Taylor, of Gwynneville, with assault and battery on Dave Wilcoxon, also of Gwynneville. The trouble occurred at Gwynneville last evening. Constable Warren Haehl went to Gwynneville today to arrest Mr. Taylor.

Mrs. Joseph A. Armstrong, of Jackson, Mo., who is at Sexton's sanitarium for the purpose of undergoing an operation, witnessed a murder from the car window at Springfield, Ill., Monday evening while the train was stopped in that city. A negro cook on a private car standing on a switch became involved in a quarrel with another party, and entering the car, seized a butcher knife and attempted to stab his antagonist. The latter, in self-defense, shot the negro twice in the face and killed him.

Clear white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2 oz. package, 5 cents.

AMUSEMENTS

Another large audience greeted the Crescent Comedy company last night at its presentation of the delightful comedy drama, "The Hand of Man" under canvas at the ball park. The play was as good if not better than that staged on Monday night. J. L. Weme, as the villain, made a decided hit with his acting. Tonight the company will present, "Partners," a four act drama which is becoming very popular everywhere.

HARGROVE & MULLIN

FOR GOOD FLOUR

To run you until harvest you had better get "INDIANA PRIDE" or "PURITY". We are in a position to furnish farmers with flour and take wheat for same at harvest. Also have arrangements so that the farmers who have wheat in the mill for flour can get flour down town and will not have to drive to the mill. Remember, we give best grade flour in exchange for wheat. We ask a trial from all.
